

Little one, little one, bitter wind blown (skip)
Sun barely rising a-bove the hor-izon
Little one, little one, bitter wind blown
Flowers are withering, naked bark brittle oh,
Little one, little one, bitter wind blown
Don't understand why the light would abandon us,
Little one, little one, bitter wind blown
And I don't know how much more he may demand of us
Little one, little one, bitter wind blown
Sun, sailing a - way I don't know Where... I donâ\200\231t know whyâ\200!
Sky, darkening grey, wishing there
werenâ\200\231t so man-y good - byes...
little one, little one why...
little one why...
Asking me questions I don't have the answers to Little one, little one, bitter wind blown Watching you shiver, and I dont know what to do
Little one, little one, bitter wind blown
Maybe if we did the dance said the words just right
Little one, little one, bitter wind blown
Maybe he'd come back may-be things would be all right t
Little one, little one, bitter wind blown
Sun, sailing a - way I don't know Where... I donâ\200\231t know whyâ\200!
Sky, darkening grey, wishing there
werenâ\200\231t so man-y good - byes...
little one, little one why...
little one why...
little one why...